

sinclair should have every right to broadcast the documentary "Stolen Honor" and air it as news. Michael Moore has been able to show Farenheit 9/11 in theatres across the country and define it as a documentary although it is definitely anti-Bush propaganda with little founding in fact.

I therefore don't see the difference in a private TV company deciding to air a documentary that exposes their view of Kerry's history.